

Chorus:

How did you do it? Or where or when?
You know an adverb is a verbs best friend.
And adverb changes; it modifies,
when a simple verb can't satisfy.

Verse 1:

Quickly or slowly, how did you walk?
Kindly or meanly, how did you talk?
He stumbled clumsily onto the floor.
She cried so loudly when he closed the door.

Chorus

Verse 2:

Sometimes an adverb can tell us when.
She baked it yesterday; we ate it then.
Sometimes an adverb can tell us where.
We ate it outside and over there.

Chorus

Verse 3:

She sang so sweetly; he mostly growled.
They came inside, where they were not allowed.
They hungrily ate and happily played.
They thirstily drank a glass of lemondade.
