

Chorus:

Direct object, what do you do?
Follow the verb, to tell to what thing or whom.
Direct objects receive the action.
Direct objects give the reader satisfaction.
Direct objects directly receive the good or bad thing that verb can tend to be.

Direct objects! Direct objects!

Verse 1:

Direct objects can be neat
when you eat some cake or get a treat.
Direct objects can be fun,
when you win a prize or score a run!

Chorus

Verse 2:

Direct objects make you shake,
when you get a shot or pet a snake!
Direct objects really stink,
when you smell a skunk or clean the sink!

Chorus

Verse 3:

Direct objects make you sad,
when you skin your knee or miss your dad.
Direct objects make you laugh,
when you tell a joke or ace your math!
