

Idiom Fun

---

Idioms are phrases in the English language that have a different meaning from the words being said. For example, if it is "raining cats and dogs," it is raining very hard. There really are no cats or dogs!

Below are some common idioms in the English language. Define each in the space provided.

It's time to hit the sack.
This cupcake is out of this world!
You crack me up with your jokes!
Your behavior is off the wall today!
I am about to toss my cookies!
It's just icing on the cake!

Choose your favorite idiom from above. Draw a picture of what it would look like if that idiom were taken literally. (If it's raining cats and dogs, dogs and cats would be falling from the clouds in the sky!)

Idiom Fun Answer Key

Idioms are phrases in the English language that have a different meaning from the words being said. For example, if it is "raining cats and dogs," it is raining very hard. There really are no cats or dogs!

Below are some common idioms in the English language. Define each in the space provided.

It's time to hit the sack.	It's time to go to bed.
This cupcake is out of this world!	This cupcake is delicious.
You crack me up with your jokes!	You make me laugh.
Your behavior is off the wall today!	You are out of control/making bad choices today.
I am about to toss my cookies!	I am about to vomit/throw-up/puke....
It's just icing on the cake!	It is one more good thing on top of another good thing.

Choose your favorite idiom from above. Draw a picture of what it would look like if that idiom were taken literally. (If it's raining cats and dogs, dogs and cats would be falling from the clouds in the sky!)

ANSWERS WILL VARY