

Pronouns and Antecedents

---

Pronouns are words that replace nouns. Antecedents are the nouns being referred to by the pronoun.

For example, you would not write:

Jonathan studied for Jonathan's math test.

You would use a pronoun to refer to the antecedent, Jonathan:

Jonathan studied for his math test.

antecedent

pronoun

In this sentence, the pronoun "his" refers to the antecedent "Jonathan."

Directions: Draw a box around each pronoun and draw an arrow to its antecedent.

Josh ate his delicious sandwich at the picnic table.

Timmy and Thomas talked about their favorite books in the library.

Allie solved a difficult math problem on her homework paper.

Did Renee go to the party with her friend Inari?

Isabel and Elizabeth washed their muddy dog in the clean bathtub!

Did you give Carter his red frisbee?

Lauren fed her black and white dog a yummy treat.

Will and Hunter built their Lego structure with amazing talent.

Noah gave McKenna her red and green sparkly pencil.
