

Chorus:

Reflexive pronouns are such selfish words.
They reflect the pronoun you just heard.
They wrap themselves around a verb.
Reflexive pronouns are such selfish words.

Verse 1:

I see myself. You see yourself.
We see ourselves too.
Reflexive pronouns are the mirror
of what the antecedents do.
(Chorus)

Verse 2:

He helped himself to the candy dish.
She helped herself too.
You helped yourself. They helped themselves.
It was a selfish thing to do!
(Chorus)

Verse 3:

My mom says not to be selfish.
My dad always says to share.
Reflexive pronouns mustn't have parents.
They must live by themselves somewhere!
(Chorus)
