

The wobbly old lady walked hunched over with a cane.

The muddy pig

squealed and ran around the pen.

The beautiful butterfly flew and fluttered gracefully through the air.

The angry little boy threw the toy across the room.

The big, dark, ominous cloud dumped heavy rain on the children at the park.

The little ballerina danced around in a pink tutu.

The big, muscular football player

was tackled on the thirty yard line.

Mrs. Corbett

played the guitar for one hour.

Answer Key

Mrs. Corbett played the guitar for one hour.

The big, muscular football player was tackled on the thirty yard line.

The little ballerina danced around in a pink tutu.

The big, dark, ominous cloud dumped heavy rain on the children at the park.

The angry little boy threw the toy across the room.

The beautiful butterfly flew and fluttered gracefully through the air.

The muddy pig squealed and ran around the pen.

The wobbly old lady walked hunched over with a cane.

(Matching Worksheet Below)

Subject and Predicate Matching Name _____

Match the subjects and predicated to create complete sentences.

- | | |
|------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| The big, green tree | ran around the bases. |
| The red convertible | shone high in the sky. |
| The orange, round sun | swayed in the breeze. |
| The furry gorilla | hopped on one foot. |
| The girl who stubbed her toe | grunted and beat his chest. |
| The baseball player | raced down the street. |
| The tiny baby | read a chapter book. |
| Mrs. Corbett | drank milk from a bottle. |

Now that you've matched the sentences correctly, choose the subject and predicate that would make the silliest sentence if combined. Write your silly sentence and illustrate it with a picture below.

When matching subjects with predicates, I feel.....

_____ confident _____ unsure

_____ I need help!

Matching Subjects with Predicates Answer Key

The big, green tree swayed in the breeze.

The red convertible raced down the street.

The orange, round sun shown high in the sky.

The furry gorilla grunted and beat his chest.

The girl who stubbed her toe hopped on one foot.

The baseball player ran around the bases.

The tiny baby drank milk from a bottle.

Mrs. Corbett read a chapter book.

Silly sentence answers will vary.