

Using More Adverbs When Writing _____

Directions: Underline the verb or verbs in each sentence. Add an adverb to explain how, where, or when each verb happened.

My sister danced across the kitchen floor.

Jesse studied for the test.

You're practicing, and you will play.

You are playing, and you should stop!

I connected the dots, and colored the picture.

You should read since it is a nice day.

Superman flew around the corner and landed on the building.

Sam did his chores and played the drums.

I coughed, ran, and then puked!

The cheerleader jumped, flipped, and landed.

When using adverbs to modify verbs, I feel:

_____ confident

_____ unsure

_____ I need help!

Using More Adverbs When Writing Answer Key

Directions: Underline the verb or verbs in each sentence. Add an adverb to explain how, where, or when each verb happened.

VERBS ARE UNDERLINED; SAMPLE SENTENCES ARE GIVEN.

My sister danced across the kitchen floor.

My sister danced gracefully across the kitchen floor.

Jesse studied for the test.

Jesse studied diligently for the test.

You're practicing, and you will play.

You're practicing today, and you will play tomorrow.

You are playing, and you should stop!

You are playing dangerously, and you should stop immediately!

I connected the dots, and colored the picture.

I carefully connected the dots, and meticulously colored the picture.

OR I carelessly connected the dots, and haphazardly colored the picture.

You should read since it is a nice day.

You should read outside since it is a nice day.

Superman flew around the corner and landed on the building.

Superman quickly flew around the corner, and effortlessly landed on the building.

Sam did his chores and played the drums.

Sam begrudgingly did his chores and joyfully played the drums.

I coughed, ran, and then puked!

I coughed loudly, ran staggeringly, and puked outside in the bushes.

The cheerleader jumped, flipped, and landed.

The cheerleader jumped vertically, flipped repeatedly, and landed solidly on her feet.